

I think Digital Television copyright protection is a bad idea.
I don't need a little black box to "keep me honest".
Copyright law is itself protection against unlawful infringement on someone's copyright, technological solutions will only stifle innovation.

Would you like all cars to have boxes that prevent you from going over the speed limit?